6. APPROACHES/ METHODOLOGIES

- 6.1 It is universally recognized that Valuation is not an exact science and that estimating values necessarily involves selecting a method or an approach that is suitable for the purpose. Courts in India have, over a period, evolved certain guiding principles, the most leading case being the decision of the Supreme Court in Hindustan Lever Employee's Union vs. Hindustan Lever Limited and Others [(1995) 83 Company Cases 30].
- 6.2 The valuation of any company or its assets is inherently imprecise and is subject to certain uncertainties and contingencies, all of which are difficult to predict and are beyond my control. In performing my analysis, I have made numerous assumptions with respect to industry performance and general business and economic conditions, many of which are beyond the control of the Company. In addition, this valuation will fluctuate with changes in prevailing market conditions, the conditions, and prospects, financial and otherwise, of the Company, and other factors which generally influence the valuation of the company and their assets.
- 6.3 The application of any particular method of valuation depends on the purpose for which the valuation is done. Although different values may exist for different purposes, it cannot be too strongly emphasized that a valuer can only arrive at one value for one purpose. My choice of methodology of valuation has been arrived at using usual and conventional methodologies adopted for the valuation of a similar nature and my reasonable judgment, in an independent and bona fide manner based on previous experience of assignments of a similar nature.
- 6.4 Generally, the following three approaches are used for valuation of business/business ownership interest:
- Asset Approach-Net Asset Value Method
 - Income Approach – Discounted Cash Flow Method
 - Market Approach
 - i. Market Price method
 - ii. Comparable Companies Market Multiple Method

These methods are explained as below:

Asset Based Approach

Cost/Asset Approach is a valuation approach is based on the value of underlying net assets of the business, either on book value basis or realisable value basis or replacement cost basis. This method is likely to be appropriate for businesses which derives values mainly from the underlying value of its assets rather than earnings.

As informed to us by the management of the demerged Company, the nature of business carried by the demerged undertaking is highly cyclical and thus, financial projections are not possible. Further, there is no similar listed entity or recent transaction happened in similar sector which came to my notice.

For EVFFL, the equity value is significantly derived from the underlying assets held by it. Thus, I have considered Asset Based Approach as most suitable method to derive the valuation of the demerged undertaking and EVFFL. Further, while deriving the fair value of the equity shares, I have adjusted the book value of assets to its fair values.

Income Based Approach

Discounted Cash Flow Method (DCF)

Under the DCF method, the projected free cash flows to the firm are discounted at the weighted average cost of capital. The sum of the discounted value of such free cash flows is the value of the Company.

Using the DCF analysis involves determining the following:

- Estimating future free cash flows:
- Free cash flows are the cash flows expected to be generated by the company that are available to all providers of the company's capital- both debt and equity.
- Appropriate discount rate to be applied to cash flows i.e., the cost of capital: This discount rate, which is applied to the free cash flows, should reflect the opportunity cost to all the capital providers (namely shareholders and creditors) weighted by their relative contribution to the total capital of the company. The opportunity cost to the capital provider equals the rate of return the capital provider expects to earn on other Investments of equivalent risk.
- Estimation of the terminal value of free cash flows subsequent to the discreet projection period by taking into consideration the full investment cycle of the company.

Under this method, the value of a business is a function of:

- Projected revenue and earnings generated by the asset;
- Expected economic life of the asset;
- Contributory asset charges that would be paid to the requisite operating assets; and

- A discount rate which reflects risk associated with receiving future cash flows.

I must emphasize that realizations of free cash flow forecast will be dependent on the continuing validity of assumptions on which they are based. My analysis, therefore, will not, and cannot be directed to providing any assurance about the achievability of the final projections. Since the financial forecasts relate to future, actual results are likely to be different from the projected results because events and circumstances do not occur as expected, and the differences may be material.

As the nature of business carried by the demerged undertaking is highly cyclical and thus, financial projections are not possible. Further, as EVFFL derives its income for the assets held by it, prediction of future income is not possible, thus, I have ignored DCF as method for valuation

Market Price Method:

The market price of an equity shares as quoted on a stock exchange is normally considered as the value of the equity shares of that company where such quotations are arising from the shares being regularly and freely traded in, subject to the element of speculative support that may be inbuilt in the value of the shares. But there could be situations where the value of the share as quoted on the stock market would not be regarded as a proper index of the fair value of the share especially where the market values are fluctuating in a volatile capital market or equity shares are infrequently traded.

As equity shares of WFPL & EVFFL are not listed, I have not considered this method.

Comparable Companies Multiple Method (CCM):

Under Comparable Companies Multiple Method, the value of shares/company is determined based on the market multiple of publicly traded comparable company/(ies). This valuation is based on the principal that market valuations, taking place between informed buyer and seller, incorporate all factors relevant to valuation. CCM applies multiples derived from similar or "Comparable" publicly traded companies. Although, no two companies are entirely alike, the companies selected as comparable companies should be engaged in similar business or same. Relevant multiple needs to be adjusted for differences like products, size, liquidity, markets etc.

In the absence of similar transaction to my knowledge, I have not considered this method as appropriate to derive the relative valuation of the demerged undertaking and EVFFL.

7. BASIS FOR FAIR ENTITLEMENT RATIO

Based on the Scheme and Discussion with the management, I have noted the followings:

- For the reasons mentioned above, I have used Adjusted Net Assets method for arriving at the fair value.
- I understand that the management of EVFFL is intending to provide an option either to opt for equity share or redeemable preference share as a part of consideration for the proposed demerger to the shareholders of WFPL.
- I have derived value of redeemable preference shares is as per the "Terms of Preference shares" which is attached herewith as Annexure 1.
- Further, it is pertinent to note that the equity share capital of WFPL & EVFFL is held by same set of shareholders (or families).

8. CONCLUSION

Based on the foregoing data, and on a consideration of all the relevant factors and circumstances as discussed and outlined hereinabove and considering the purpose of the Report to arrive at the fair entitlement ratio for the proposed demerger of demerged undertaking of WFPL into ECFFL would be as follow:

100 [Hundred] equity shares of INR 10 each of EVFFL for every 1052 [One Thousand and Fifty-Two] equity shares of INR 10 each of WFPL or 100 [Hundred] non-cumulative non-redeemable preference shares of INR 10 each of EVFFL for every 1052 [One Thousand and Fifty-Two] equity shares of INR 10 each of WFPL.

I am grateful to the Management for making information and particulars available to me, at a short notice, without which my assignment would not have been concluded in a time-bound manner.

Thank you,

Yours faithfully,

The financial statements have been prepared on accrual basis and under the historical cost convention.

1.2 Change in accounting policies

Accounting policies have been consistently applied except where a newly issued Accounting Standard is initially adopted or a revision to an existing accounting standard requires a change in the accounting policy hitherto in use or for the purpose of better presentation of financial statements. Management evaluates all recently issued or revised Accounting Standards on an ongoing basis and accordingly changes the Accounting policies as applicable.

1.3 Use of estimates

The preparation of Financial Statements in conformity with the Indian GAAP, requires the management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of revenues, expenses, assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingent liabilities, at the end of reporting period. Although these estimates are based on management's best knowledge of current events and actions, uncertainty about these assumptions and estimates could result in outcomes requiring a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets or liabilities in future periods.

SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES AND OTHER NOTES FORMING PART OF THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1 Notes to Accounts

A BASIS OF PREPARATION

The financial statements have been prepared and presented following the going concern principal, on historical cost convention, on the accrual basis of accounting, in accordance with the generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP) in India and comply with the Accounting Standards prescribed in the Companies (Accounting Standards) Rules, 2006 and with the relevant provisions of the Indian Companies Act 2013, to the extent applicable, except wherever otherwise stated.

B SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

a Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amount of assets, liabilities and disclosure of contingent liabilities on the date of financial statements, and the reported amount of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. Accounting estimates could change from period to period. Actual results could differ from these estimates. Changes in estimates are reflected in financial statements in the period in which changes are made and, if material, the effects are disclosed in the notes to financial statements.

b Revenue recognition

Sales and other income are being recognized on accrual basis upon transfer of property on goods and rendering of services. Other income is accounted on accrual basis except when the realization of such income is uncertain. Dividend income is recognized when the company's right to receive dividend is established by the reporting date.

All significant items of Income and Expenses are accounted on accrual basis.

c Fixed Assets

Fixed Assets are stated at cost of acquisition or construction less accumulated depreciation / amortisation. All costs relating to the acquisition and installation of fixed assets are capitalised and include borrowing costs relating to funds attributable to construction or acquisition of qualifying assets, up to the date the asset / plant is ready for intended use.

d Depreciation And Amortization

Company does not hold any Fixed Asset on which depreciation is required to be provided as per Companies Act, 2013

e Investment

Investments which are readily realizable and intended to be held for more than one year from the date on which such investments are made, as classified as current investments. All other investments are classified as Long term Investments.

f Taxes on Income

Current tax is the amount of tax payable on the taxable income for the year determined in accordance with the provisions of the Income Tax Act, 1961.

Deferred tax is recognised on timing differences between the accounting income and the taxable income for the year, and quantified using the tax rates and laws enacted or substantially enacted as on Balance Sheet date. Deferred tax assets are recognised and carried forward to the extent there is reasonable certainty that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which such deferred tax assets can be realised.

In view of the losses incurred during the year and uncertainty of the future taxable income, Deferred Tax Asset has not been recognised by the company.

g Cash & Bank Balances

Cash & Bank balances comprise cash and balance with banks and short-term investments, Fixed deposits with an original maturity of 3 months or less.

h Provisions, Contingent Liabilities and Contingent Assets

The Company creates a provision when there is present obligation as a result of past event that probably requires an outflow of resources and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation. A disclosure for a contingent liability is made when there is a possible obligation or a present obligation that may, but probably will not, require an outflow of resources. Where there is a possible obligation or a present obligation in respect of which the likelihood of outflow of resources is remote, no provision or disclosure is made. Contingent assets are neither recognised nor disclosed in the financial statements.

As certified by the management there are no contingent liabilities to the company as at the balance sheet date, except as otherwise disclosed.

i Earnings per share

In determining earnings per share, the Company considers the net profit after tax and excludes the post tax effect of any extra-ordinary/exceptional item. The number of shares used in computing basic earning per share is the number of shares outstanding during the period. The Company has not issued any potential equity shares and accordingly basic earning per share and diluted earning per share are the same.
